The son of a woman who was fatally shot by a Bartlesville police officer on Wednesday was charged and arraigned in Washington County District Court on Friday.

Michael Anthony Livingston, 50, was arraigned on charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, keeping a house where controlled dangerous substances are sold, possession of unlawful surveillance equipment, possession of a device capable of receiving police radio transmissions and threatening to kill a police officer, according to Will Drake, Washington County assistant district attorney.

Police were serving a drug warrant at Livingston's home when his mother, Geraldine Townsend, 72, fired a pellet gun at officers, the Police Department reported. An officer returned fire, and Townsend died later at a Bartlesville hospital.

Drake said Livingston had several prior convictions. In 1988, he pleaded guilty to a burglary charge in Oklahoma County, court records show.

Livingston was still being held in the Washington County Jail on Friday in lieu of a $500,000 bond.
